

A winter time excursion into the snows by a steer at Rinker's Bridge View north of Hillsgrove.

Side by side, an unusual arrangement of covered bridges cross the Loyalsock below Hillsgrove. The traffic bridge, left, was in service until the 1920's (exact date unknown), while the wooden railroad bridge collapsed and was replaced by an iron truss bridge, illustrated elsewhere in this book.